Many People Will Be Overweight in 2050

A recent study predicts that by 2050, more than half of all adults worldwide will be overweight or obese. The number of overweight young people is also expected to increase significantly, raising concerns about future health risks. Experts warn that obesity is becoming a serious global health problem that could affect both individuals and healthcare systems. The rise is especially concerning in developing countries where healthcare systems may struggle to handle the growing demand. Researchers say governments need to take action and promote healthier lifestyles to prevent further growth of obesity.

[SUMMARY] 2050년까지 전 세계 성인의 절반 이상이 과체중 또는 비만이 될 것으로 예상돼요. 전문가들은 이를 심각한 글로벌 건강 문제로 보고 대응이 필요하다고 강조하고 있어요.
